A SAD AFFAIR.

LORENZO CROSBY COMMITS SUICIDE NEAR HIGBEE, MO.

Geo. H. Crosby, Jr. of Snowflake passed through here Sunday enroute for Kansas City to get the remains of his brother, Lorenzo Crosby, who shot himself twice in the head as the train was leaving Higbee, Mo., Saturday morning, and was taken on to Kansas City, Mo. and put in the city hospital, where he died at 8 o'clock that night.

He had just finished a 2 years mission in the southern states and was on his return home.

Eastern papers stated that brooding over family troubles had unbalanced his mind and caused him to end his life. This is not so, as he and his wife lived very happily together and were never known to quarrel.

Mr. Crosby had been quite ill for months past, which brought on insomnia, and it is supposed he was suffering with one of those spells when he shot himself.

Geo. Crosby returned Wednesday with the remains and was met by John Hall and Henry L. Harless, who took them on to Springerville, where the remains will be laid to rest.

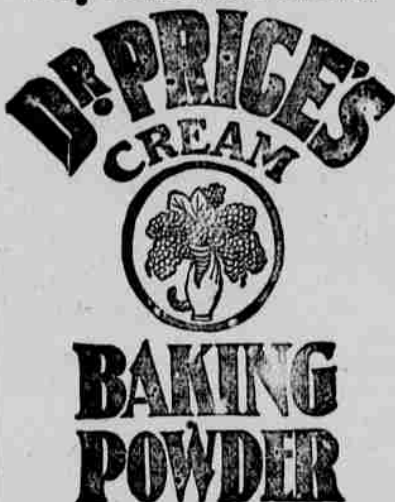

Lorenzo Crosby came to Arizona in 1886, and was always willing to lend a helping hand to any proposition for the betterment of Arizona.

Deceased was 28 years old and leaves a wife and four children to mourn his death.

Francisco Gracien, who has charge of Babitt and Newman's sheep, wintering in the Salt river valley, stopped over here a few hours Wednesday, while on his way to Albuquerque to get men to attend to the lambing, which will begin about March 1st.

While here Frank paid the Argus a visit; he reports the lower country as being very dry but as yet no losses have occurred on account of drought.
